Harold E. Strickland, a Virginia inmate proceeding pro se, brings this action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 against various employees at Deep Meadow Correctional Center and Mecklenburg Correctional Center, officials from the Virginia Department of Corrections (“VDOC”), VDOC itself, the Commonwealth of Virginia, and Assistant Attorney General John Parsons.¹ Strickland claims that officials denied him adequate medical treatment and a proper diet for his Crohn’s disease. Defendants J. Michael Parsons, Mark Militana, Gayle Harris, R. Sutterfield, F. Schilling, S. Whitten, Harold Clarke, H. Ponton, VDOC, and the Commonwealth of Virginia, filed motions for summary judgment (ECF Nos. 63, 70, 73, 148), and the court referred the matter to United States Magistrate Judge Pamela M. Sargent for a Report and Recommendation pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B).²

The Magistrate Judge filed a thorough report recommending that the court grant the defendants’ motion for summary judgment on all of Strickland’s claims. Strickland—a frequent litigant in the federal courts³ who has a penchant for filing unfounded claims, naming non-essential parties, and unnecessarily multiplying proceedings—did not file a timely objection⁴ to the Report and Recommendation, but although untimely, the court has considered the objections Strickland filed. Those objections largely reiterate the arguments made in his pleadings.

² The court notes that as of the date of this order, one outstanding defendant, Dr. H. Stephens, Chief Medical Officer of VDOC, has yet to respond to Strickland’s complaint against him, and the court entered default against another defendant, Nurse Shelly Gregory.

Having reviewed the Report and Recommendation, Strickland's objections, and pertinent portions of the record de novo in accordance with § 636(b)(1), the court agrees with the Magistrate Judge's recommendation.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED and ADJUDGED that Strickland's motion for an extension of time is GRANTED, the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation is ADOPTED in its entirety, and the defendants' motions for summary judgment are GRANTED.
